THE ANCESTRY
OF
Lieut. AMOS TOWNE

TOWNE

1. John Towne. William Towne, the emigrant ancestor of the Towne family of Topsfield, was married and had six children baptized in the parish church of St. Nicholas, Great Yarmouth, Norfolk, England. Towne's age was estimated in 1660 as "three score years," when he testified in a court proceeding,* which would indicate the approximate date of his birth as 1600. There can be no reasonable doubt, therefore, that he was that William, son of John and Elizabeth Towne, who was baptized at St. Nicholas' on March 18, 1598/9.

The only Towne entries in the Great Yarmouth register for this period are as follows:

> 1597 Aug. 28. Arthur, son of John and Alice Towne, bapt.
> 1598(9) March 18. William, son of John and Elizabeth Towne, bapt.
> 1600 Sept. 1. John Towne and Margaret Walden, married.

It is not uncommon to find the names Alice and Elizabeth used interchangeably, and it is therefore possible that Arthur and William had the same mother. The probate records for Norfolk, Feet of Fines and Chancery Proceedings yielding no additional facts, it can merely be stated in regard to John Towne that he married Elizabeth (or Alice) before 1597, had two sons, Arthur and William, born in 1597 and 1599, and, on the death of his wife, married Margaret Walden in 1600.† There are no further Towne items in the parish register until the marriage of William Towne in 1620.

* Records and Files of the County Courts of Essex County, Mass., IV : 205 — hereafter referred to as Records and Files, etc.

† Search made by Phillimore & Co., London, in 1923.

2. WILLIAM[2] TOWNE (John[1]) was baptized in the church of St. Nicholas, Great Yarmouth, Norfolk, on March 18, 1598/9. He was married to Jone (Joanna) Blessing on April 25, 1620, in the same church, where, between 1621 and 1634, their first six children were baptized. Inasmuch as the name Blessing has not been found after considerable search in the Norfolk County records at Norwich and as the marriage record of "Jone" is the unique instance of the name in the parish register at Yarmouth during the period searched (1558-1611), it would seem probable that she was a foreigner, many emigrants from Germany and the Low Countries having been attracted to Yarmouth by the herring fisheries in the sixteenth century. A general search for the name in records covering all England has been fruitless, and families named Blessing now living in the United States claim a German origin.

The first record of William Towne in America appears in the town book of Salem in 1640 when he was granted "a little neck of Land right over against his house on the other side of the river." In the same year he sued John Cook in what seems to have been a boundary dispute and obtained a verdict and costs. It is probable that Towne was in Salem some years before 1640, however. The list of grants by the town to that portion of its territory called the North Fields is undated and the best opinion seems to indicate that the grants were made before 1635, when the town records begin. William Towne's name appears on this list, and it was in the North Fields that he lived.

In 1651 Towne purchased land in the neighboring town of Topsfield from William Paine of Ipswich. This farm contained forty acres "part of which is plow land, another part is meaddow, another part is upland unplowed, all lying together," bounded by William Howard toward the east, Walter Roper on the north and a "Sertaine River" toward the south or southwest. There were also included two acres on the south side of the river.

He sold his Salem property to Henry Bullock in 1652 and bought additional land at Topsfield in 1656. In 1660 in testifying in a lawsuit his age was estimated at three score years.* He was made a commoner of Topsfield in 1661, and his wife was dismissed from the Salem church to that of Topsfield in 1664. On the occasion of the marriage of his son, Joseph, to Phebe Perkins, daughter of Deacon Thomas Perkins, in 1663, William Towne deeded two-thirds of his real property to Joseph, with whom he and his wife doubtless lived for the remainder of their days.

* Records and Files, etc., II : 205.

Joanna Towne figured in a series of suits brought by and against Rev. Thomas Gilbert, the Topsfield minister, in 1670. Gilbert, by his own testimony and that of his wife, was a sick man and he was doubtless of erratic temperament, but some of his principal parishioners laid his acts and eccentricities to overindulgence in drink, and the court seems to have considered their suspicions credible. Most of the evidence produced dealt with a dinner at the parsonage between two Sunday services at which Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert had Capt. John Gould, Mr. Thomas Perkins, and their wives, and old Mrs. Towne as their guests. A gold cup (surely a rare treasure in seventeenth-century New England) filled with wine was passed about the table and Mr. Gould alleged that Mr. Gilbert drank too freely therefrom. Joanna Towne (her age being given at seventy-five) testified that on Sunday Mr. Gilbert had administered the "sacrament swetly unto us" and that after the service "I was att dinner att M^{ter} Gilberts table . . . and sat next to him on his right hand, and though some report that he drank too much of the sacrament wyn . . . I believe he is wronged, for I that then sat next him saw no such matter . . . And I can saifly take my oath that though our minister had the cup twyce in his hand, yet the first tyme he drank not one drop of it, but gave it out of his hand to Thomas Perkins, bidding him give it to me, for I needed it mor than he, being older. When the cup had gone about, it came into his hand the second time and I am sure ther could not be much in it then (it may be two or three spoon-ful) and that he drank."*

At the June term of court, 1673, Joanna Towne was appointed to administer the estate of her late husband, which fixes the approximate date of William Towne's death. The property was probably retained by her until her death, and it was not divided until 1682, when Mary, widow of Edmund Towne, Jacob Towne, Joseph Towne, Francis Nourse, Mary Estey and Sarah Bridges addressed to the court "the Humbell peticion of us whos names are under wrighten in way of the seatellment of a small esteat left to us by our Honered ffather deceased about tenn yers agoo who died and leaft no will," and requested that the real estate be assigned to the sons and the personal property to the daughters.†

Children, the first six baptized in Great Yarmouth:—

i. Rebecca, bapt. Feb. 21, 1621; m. Francis Nourse of Salem; she was executed for witchcraft on July 19, 1692, having been acquitted on her first trial, but later rearrested and convicted, her

Nov. 27, 1704; his will, dated three days before his death, names his wife Catherine, sons Jacob, John and Edmund, and daughters Catherine Perkins, Deliverance Stiles and Ruth Towne.†

vi. MARY, bapt. Aug. 24, 1634; m. Isaac Estey, son of Jeffrey Estey of Salem; executed for witchcraft Sept. 22, 1692, her petition to the court being the outstanding note of high fortitude and understanding charity which has come down to us from Salem's black days; he d. in 1712 in Topsfield; his will, made March 26, 1709, mentions his sons Isaac, Joseph, John, Benjamin, Jacob and Joshua, and his daughters Sarah Ireland and Hannah Abbot.

vii. SARAH, bapt. Sept. 3, 1648, in Salem; m. (1) Edmund Bridges, son of Edmund and Alice Bridges, Jan. 11, 1659/60; he d. about 1682, and she m. (2) Peter Cloyes, son of John and Abigail Cloyes, as his second wife; accused of witchcraft in 1692, primarily because of her courageous protest against blackening of her sister's name by the Salem Village clergyman, Mr. Parris, but escaped execution; removed to Sudbury and d. before 1704, when Cloyes m. as his third wife Susanna Beers; he d. July 18, 1708.

viii. JOSEPH, bapt. Sept. 3, 1648, in Salem; m. Phebe Perkins, daughter of Thomas and Phebe (Gould) Perkins of Topsfield, about 1663, in which year his father conveyed to him a part of his house and land in Topsfield in view of the contemplated marriage; freeman March 22, 1690; d. 1713; administration granted to eldest son, Joseph, Feb. 21, 1714; his children yielded their rights in his household goods to their mother on May 27, 1715, the names signed to the instrument being Joseph, Sarah, Martha and Phoebe Towne, John Cummings (husband of Susannah Towne) and Thomas Nichols (husband of Joanna Towne).‡

3. SERGT. EDMUND[3] TOWNE (William[2], John[1]) was baptized in the church of St. Nicholas, Great Yarmouth, Norfolk, England, June 28, 1628. He came to New England when he was nine years old as an apprentice of Henry Skerry on the ship "Rose" which sailed from Great Yarmouth in 1637. Skerry settled in Salem.

Edmund Towne married Mary Browning, daughter of Thomas and Mary Browning, about the year 1652, when he was twenty-two and she fourteen years of age, and settled in Topsfield. He served on the trial jury of the County Court in 1655, was made a commoner in 1661, sat on the grand jury in 1663 and took the oath as freeman in 1664. He was appointed corporal of the Topsfield military company in June, 1666, and in 1675, during King Philip's War, he was one of the committee from the town which presented a petition to the General Court asking permission to form a military guard to protect the settlers at their work. He was a selectman in 1673, town constable in 1675, and tythingman in 1677, when he is called Sergeant Towne.*

Sergt. Towne died in 1678. He left no will, but his widow, Mary, proved a statement covering his "Intent and purpose," saying "The minde of the deceased was as is mine allsoe; and is consented too by all partys conscernd that the four sonns shall have all the Lands Equally devyded amongst them, And the rest of the estate to be Equally devyded amongst the 5 : garles only Sarah the second Daughter is already marryed and Hath rescieved to the vallue of twelve pounds already." Administration was granted to Mary Towne on 27 : 4 : 1678. The inventory, taken by Francis Peabody and Thomas Baker, lists real estate, exclusive of the Browning lands, worth £292, books worth £1, etc.†

Mary (Browning) Towne made her will February 1, 1709/10. She confirmed her gift of the land at Topsfield, over which she had power of disposal by the will of her father, to her four sons Thomas, William, Joseph and Samuel, left personal property to her five daughters Mary, Sarah, Abigail, Rebecca and Elizabeth, and appointed Joseph her executor. On the same date as the will, stating that "our mother Mrs. Mary Towne hath given to us her share of Land which did belong to our Grandfather Thomas Browning," the four sons divided this property and the large farm inherited from their father.‡ Mrs. Towne survived her son Joseph and her will was probated December 16, 1717, Thomas and William being appointed executors c.t.a. The inventory of personal belongings included a silver cup and spoon.§

Children, born in Topsfield: —

4. JOSEPH[4] TOWNE (Edmund[3], William[2], John[1]) was born in Topsfield September 2, 1661. He married Amy Smith, daughter of Robert and Mary (French) Smith of Boxford, on August 10, 1687.

There were three contemporary Joseph Townes in Topsfield in the latter part of the seventeenth century, Joseph[3] being the eldest, Joseph[4] (Edmund[3]) being designated Joseph, Jr., and Joseph[4] (Joseph[3]) being called Joseph third or Corporal Joseph. "Joseph Towne Jr. the widows son" was elected surveyor of highways in 1691/2, and he served as selectman in 1694 and as constable in 1697.

Joseph Towne made his will on May 18, 1717, and it was proved on the following December 16. To his wife "Emmy" he

Smith, daughter of Samuel[2] and Rebecca (Curtis) Smith of Topsfield, May 30, 1732, and soon afterward joined his brother Jesse in Arundel, Maine. He was a farmer and shipmaster. His first house was built on a knoll a short distance in the woods on the Saco road, in the rear of the present poor-house.* It is an open cleared space of about two acres and the cellar is yet to be seen. According to the local historian he was a member of the expedition which captured Louisburg from the French in 1745, and in 1747 he was drowned while on his way to Annapolis, Nova Scotia, with reinforcements against the return of the French fleet under Duc d'Anville. A rumor was persistent in Arundel that the captain of the transport, to insure his own safety, secured the hatches after the vessel struck, leaving the soldiers to perish. Rev. Mr. Hovey's diary states, under the date of February 14, 1747, "heard the Averies, Amos Towne, Hues and Ensign Sampson were cast away at Mt. Desert . . . ; . . . who were going down with Capt. Perkins to Annapolis."

Mary (Smith) Towne was living in 1743.†

7. Lieut. Amos[6] Towne (Amos[5], Joseph[4], Edmund[3], William[2], John[1]) was born in Arundel October 17, 1737. He married Jane (Jenny) Smith, daughter of Capt. William Smith of Arundel, int. November 29, 1759, at Wells. In 1762 he is called a tailor and his wife's name is recorded as Jean.* He built a house on the old Saco road near that of his father-in-law, Capt. Smith, to the east of the so-called Towne-Smith graveyard, where the two families are buried.

Amos Towne saw lengthy service in the Revolutionary army. In 1775 he was with Col. Scamman's regiment at Cambridge, and in 1776 he was at Dorchester Heights as lieutenant in Capt. John Elden's company, Col. Lemuel Robinson's regiment, when the occupation of that location forced the evacuation of Boston by Lord Howe. On August 14, 1776, he was commissioned a second Lieutenant in Capt. Samuel Leighton's company, Col. Ebenezer Francis' regiment at Dorchester, and he was with this company on September 23 (return of officers). He was commissioned first lieutenant of Capt. William Smith's (4th) company of the 3d York County regiment of Mass. militia on December 14, 1779, and on April 21, 1780, he joined, as first lieutenant, Capt. Daniel Clark's company, Col. Joseph Prime's regiment, which was raised for the defence of Eastern Massachusetts. He was discharged December 8, 1780.

After the death of his first wife Lieut. Towne married Sarah Miller, daughter of Jeremiah and Elizabeth (Lassell) Miller, November 16, 1784. He died in September, 1793. His son Robert Towne, mariner, was appointed administrator on June 24, 1794, with Robert Stone and William Smith as sureties, and his son Ezra and daughter Jane chose their brother Robert as their guardian. Jeremiah Miller was appointed guardian of all of the children who were under fourteen years of age — Alice, Lydia, Lucy, Joseph, Jeremiah, John and Susanna.†

Sarah (Miller) Towne married Capt. Daniel Merrill September 17, 1797, and had a daughter, Jane Merrill, born September 16, 1798. Mrs. Merrill died September 10, 1840, aged eighty-six (gravestone record).

II

BROWNING, OF SALEM AND TOPSFIELD

BROWNING

1. Thomas Browning of Salem stated that his age was about seventy-three in the year 1660, hence his birth year may be given approximately as 1587. The date and circumstances of his emigration from England are unknown, but he is definitely found in Salem in 1636. His wife Mary, the mother of his four daughters, all of whom seem to have been born in Salem, must have been much younger than her husband, who, by his own calculation, was fifty when the first daughter was baptized, and their marriage probably took place immediately before his departure from England or soon after his arrival in Salem. Hints as to their possible connections among the Salem settlers are contained in the will of the widow Anne Scarlet who died in 1639. In addition to her three children, and her brothers Samuel and David in England (surnames not given), she mentions her sister Dennis, her brother James Hindes, her brother Joseph Grafton and her brother and sister Browning.* Hindes and Grafton were both Salem men, and it is interesting to note in this connection that Thomas Browning appointed Grafton an overseer of his own will in 1670.

Thomas Browning was made a freeman on April 17, 1637, and he was one of the makers of the Salem tax rate for the Colonial levy of August 1 in that same year. He had received forty acres in town grants in 1636, and from the schedule of the 1637 town grants, when he received sixty acres more, it appears that his family consisted of five persons at that time. In 1645 he was relieved of the duty of military training, but required to pay a yearly fee of ten shillings to the local company.†

Before 1657 the Brownings moved from Salem to Topsfield, although their Salem homestead was retained. In that year he was sued by the town of Topsfield for fencing in a meadow which proved to be town land, and cutting hay there for several years previously. He served on the Grand Jury in Ipswich in 1657. His name appears on the list of Topsfield commoners in 1661 and in the tax-lists of 1668 and 1669. He was dismissed from the Salem church to that of Topsfield on November 9, 1663.

Thomas Browning "of Salem" died early in 1671. His will follows:

The Salem property was divided between the two sons-in-law, Joseph Williams and Isaac Meacham, in 1675, Williams agreeing to pay Meacham twelve pounds on the death of Mary Browning, their mother-in-law, inasmuch as the house "in the town" fell to his lot.* Mary Browning was still living in this Salem house in 1682, when Joseph Williams died.

III

SMITH

1. Robert Smith, first of Ipswich and later of Rowley Village, testified in a civil suit in 1659 when his age was stated to be thirty-three. From the depositions in a previous lawsuit in 1655, in which he gives evidence concerning a circumstance of his voyage to New England, it would appear probable that he came from the vicinity of Boston, Lincolnshire, and that he made the voyage to New England as an apprentice of a Mr. Whittingham in 1638. According to the estimate of his age he was born in 1626 and would have been about twelve years old at the time of his emigration.*

An examination of the parish register of Boston discloses a Robert Smith baptized in 1626, but the burial records show that he died within a year. Experience in attempted identifications of English emigrants to America teaches that it is always unwise to leap at conclusions unsupported by very strong evidence, and this is particularly the case with a surname so common as Smith.

The 1659 deposition states that Robert Smith was living with Mrs. Tuttle, Simon Tuttle's mother, in Ipswich "eight or nine years ago." In 1652 he and Edmund Bridges were witnesses in an Ipswich suit.† He married Mary French, daughter of Thomas and Mary French of Ipswich, before March, 1656/7, when they both testified in the action brought by Henry Kemball against Thomas Smith et al.‡ Within a few years they moved to Rowley Village, then closely identified with Topsfield, and in 1673, when some of the inhabitants of the village attempted to throw its association toward Rowley, Robert Smith headed the petition to the General Court in opposition. The village eventually became the town of Boxford. Smith took the oath of allegiance in 1678. When Mr. Capen became the minister of Topsfield church in 1684, Robert Smith's wife was one of the members in full communion.

Robert Smith made his will on August 7, 1693, and it was probated on September 26. His property was left to his wife, Mary, his sons Samuel, Ephraim and Jacob, and his daughters Mary Towne, Phebe Towne, "Emey" Towne and "Meriah"

Smith. His son Nathaniel, who was an invalid, was left in charge of his brother Samuel, and his son Thomas, who lived with "his grandfather ffrainch," received no legacy. Administration cum testamento annexo was granted to Samuel on October 3, 1698, his sureties being his brother Ephraim and his uncle John French. The property administered at this time was appraised by John French and John Gould at £189: 7: 3. From papers filed with the account of this administration it appears that Mary (French) Smith survived her husband twenty-six years, which would indicate that she died in 1719. A final division was made by Ephraim, Jacob and Samuel Smith in 1731, when it was stated that they had bought out the interests of their brothers and sisters.*

Children, born in Rowley Village:—

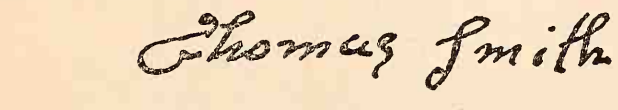
2. THOMAS[2] SMITH (Robert[1]) was born about 1657, as he states his age to be forty in a deposition taken in 1697. He was brought up by his grandfather French in Ipswich, and his father made no provision for him in his will for that reason. Twenty-five years after his father's death, on February 16, 1719, he quitclaimed any interest which he might have had as "eldest son of Mr. Robert Smith of Boxford" to his brothers, Ephraim, Samuel and Jacob.‡



Thomas Smith was an innkeeper in Ipswich, his house being opposite the green, on Meeting-house hill. He married Martha ——— about 1680. It is probable that they were the Thomas Smith and Martha Gilbert who were fined in the March term of the Quarterly Court, 1682.* He seems to have distributed his real estate to his sons some time before his death. His son John leased the house in which his parents were then living to them and the survivor of them by an instrument made on April 1, 1715. Martha Smith had bought the land on which her son Ephraim's shop stood from him in 1713. In 1723 Thomas Smith of Ipswich, "tailor," and his wife Martha sold land in Ipswich, bounded by land of John and Ephraim Smith, to Aaron Potter, the shop which Ephraim had sold to his mother being mentioned in the deed.†

Thomas Smith, "innholder," died on February 25, 1725(6). His will, made November 22, 1725, and probated February 28, 1725/6, leaves one-third of his real and personal property to his wife Martha, states that his sons Thomas, John, Ebenezer and Ephraim (deceased) had received their shares of his property previously, and leaves the residue to his daughters Martha Urin, Mary Hodgkins and Abigail Gleasure.††

Martha Smith, widow of Thomas Smith, "taverner," died February 4, 1728(9). Her sons John and Ebenezer were granted administration on February 6, 1729(30).‡ They presented an account on November 22, 1735.‡‡

3. EPHRAIM[2] SMITH (Robert[1]) was born in Rowley Village October 29, 1663. He married Mary Ramsdell, daughter of John and Elizabeth (Perkins) Ramsdell of Boxford and granddaughter of Rev. William Perkins of Topsfield, September 6, 1694. Smith served for seventeen weeks in the expedition organized by Sir Edmund Andros against the French and the Penobscot Indians in 1688, and Boxford voted to pay him six shillings a week for this service on March 1, 1689/90. In 1732 he deeded land in Boxford to his son John who had given him five years' service after he came of age.* Neither his death nor that of his wife is recorded, nor is any settlement of his estate entered in the probate office.

4. Samuel[2] Smith* (Robert[1]) was born January 26, 1666,

* Samuel[2] Smith has been confused with a contemporary Samuel[2] Smith, son of William[1] Smith, who seems to have lived over the Ipswich border from Topsfield but who was an attendant at the Topsfield church, where his children were baptized. The short and irregular intervals between the baptismal records of sons and daughters of "Samuel Smith" makes the conclusion necessary that there were two Samuel Smiths connected with Topsfield in the early years of the eighteenth century, and the fact that Solomon[3] (Samuel[2], William[1]) is definitely proved to have been living when Samuel[2] (Robert[1]) made his will, mentioning no son Solomon, makes their separate identities certain. The William Smith family works out briefly as follows:

1. William Smith of Topsfield married Rebecca Keyes (Keas) on July 6, 1657. She was a sister of the wife of John[2] French, whose sister was the wife of Robert[1] Smith. There is no definite evidence of relationship between William and Robert Smith, but this connection by marriage is suggestive. His age was estimated as forty in 1674, so that the approximate date of his birth is 1634. He was a commoner of Topsfield in 1661, corporal of the foot company in 1666, constable in 1679, 1680, 1683 and 1684, tythingman in 1681, and on the county jury of trials in 1682. Apparently Corporal Smith and his family lived in the Topsfield parsonage, under a lease from the town. In 1686 Smith requested that the bounds of the parsonage land be renewed, and in 1692, after his father's death, William Smith, Jr., in behalf of his mother and brother Joseph, requested the town to acquit them of the lease of the parsonage, but with permission for widow Smith to occupy the house until the next Michaelmas.

Rebecca (Keyes) Smith married Daniel Kilham of Wenham March 29, 1693, in Topsfield. She died Sept. 7, 1696, in Wenham (her name incorrectly recorded as Mary).

Children: —

i. William, b. July 17, 1658; m. Martha ———: purchased thirty acres in Topsfield from Joseph Estey, which he sold to Rev. Joseph Capen, together with a house thereon, in 1697 (Essex Deeds, 8 : 43; 13 : 43); carpenter; his will, made Nov. 15, 1715, and probated Dec. 26, 1715, mentions his wife Martha, son William and in Rowley Village. He was the administrator of his father's estate in 1698, and his widowed mother and invalid brother Nathaniel lived with him in Topsfield. He married Rebecca Curtis, daughter of Sergeant John and Mary (Looke) Curtis of Topsfield, January 25, 1707/8. He was a carpenter by trade, and took a small part in town affairs, serving as tything-man in 1727, fenceviewer in 1730, and constable in 1733. In 1731, correctly stating his age to be sixty-five, he testified as to matters in Topsfield fifty-eight years before.* He died on July 12, 1748. His will, dated March 6, 1747/8, was probated August 22, 1748. He left his property to his wife Rebecca, his sons Samuel and Robert, and his daughters who are not specifically named.† Rebecca Smith died in Topsfield March 13, 1753.

6. Samuel[3] Smith, Esq. (Samuel[2], Robert[1]), was born in Topsfield on January 26, 1714. His first wife was Priscilla Gould, his first cousin, daughter of Zacheus and Elizabeth (Curtis) Gould, whom he married May 27, 1734. She died September 25, 1744. He married his second wife on October 8, 1745, and her maiden name was also Priscilla Gould, a daughter of Joseph and Priscilla (Perkins) Gould.

Samuel Smith was undoubtedly the most prominent citizen of Topsfield during the latter part of his long career of public service. After occupying minor offices in his younger days he was chosen selectman in 1749, 1751, 1752, 1753, 1754, 1755, 1757, 1771, 1772, 1773, 1774, 1775, 1776 and 1777; constable in 1750; moderator of the town meetings from 1758 to 1778 with the exception of two years; representative to the General Court 1765-1772, 1774 and 1777. He was a member of the Committee of Public Safety in Boston in 1768, of the Committee of Correspondence in 1773, of the Committee on Tea in 1774, a delegate to the Provincial Congress in 1775, and a member of the Committee on Pay of Minute-men that same year. He was the town's assessor from 1771 to 1773, and town clerk in 1776 and 1777. He bore the military title of lieutenant from 1758 to 1766, when he became captain, and during his last years he was Samuel Smith, Esquire, when that designation was indicative of importance and respect.

Samuel Smith, gentleman, made his will on March 3, 1767, but he survived many years after the date of that document and died of apoplexy on November 14, 1785. His estate was divided between his wife Priscilla, his daughters Priscilla, Vashti and Susanna, and his sons Samuel and Asael. His silver watch was specifically bequeathed to Samuel and his silver shoe-buckles to Asael.* His widow died May 27, 1797, aged eighty-three.

FRENCH, OF IPSWICH

FRENCH

1. Ensign Thomas French of Ipswich was in New England as early as 1637 when he was a soldier in the Pequot War. In 1672 he petitioned the colonial government for a grant of land northwest of Salisbury, in behalf of himself and eight other Ipswich men who had seen service in that campaign. His signature to the petition is here presented in facsimile.* French is first mentioned in the Ipswich records in 1638 when he was designated Thomas French, Jr. Thomas French, Sr., who came to Ipswich from Boston in 1635 with his wife Alice, has been confused with him, notably by Mr. Hammett, the distinguished Ipswich genealogist. Whether or not any relationship existed between them is not determined. The elder man was a member of the Boston church in 1631, a freeman on November 6, 1632, was dismissed to the Ipswich church in 1638, and administration on his estate was granted to his widow Alice on 5: 9: 1639. She subsequently married Ensign Thomas Howlett of Ipswich and Topsfield.

Thomas French's chief public activities were military and judicial. He was a subscriber to Major Dennison's compensation in 1648. He is called Sergeant French until 1664, and Ensign French henceforth. In 1664 he testified to the mutinous behavior of Samuel Hunt and others during the training of the Ipswich troop on Wolfpen plain.† He served on the trial jury of the County Court in 1651, 1652, 1657-1660, 1662, 1664, 1669, 1672, 1674-1675, and 1678, and on a jury of inquest in 1676. He is listed as a voter in town affairs in 1679 and as a commoner in 1678.

Ensign French died August 8, 1680. His wife Mary survived until May 6, 1681. His will, dated five days before his death, follows: —

"In the name of God Amen. I Thomas ffrench senior. of Ipswich being weak of body yet of perfect understanding and memory doe in case of death make this my last Will and Testament. In the first place I commend my Soul into the hands of Almighty God who hath redeemed it by the precious blood of his Son; and I commit my body to the Earth, whence it was taken, to be buried in a Christian decent manner by my friends in hope of a blessed resurrection to eternal life. And as for my outward Estate which God hath graciously given me in this world I doe thus dispose of it: inprimis, I give and bequeath to Mary my beloved wife the Bed whereon I use to ly, with all the appurtenances and furniture belonging thereto. Moreover I give to my son Thomas ffrench my cloak and close-coat. Also I give to my son John French one Cow, which is to make up the full summe of thirty pounds which I formerly promised him for his Portion. Also I give to my daughter Mary Smith, one Cow. And to my son Samuel ffrench I give and bequeath the bed whereon he usually lieth, together with the Bedding and Bed-stead belonging to the same. ffurther, as concerning my lands at the Pequod lots, and my division Lot of marsh at plum-Island my Will is, that my sons Thomas and Samuel French for and in consideration of twenty pounds by them engaged according to my order unto my son Ephraim French as y^{e} remaining part of his portion (which summe of twenty pounds is almost all paid, and the remainer due upon demand), I say my Will is that those my two sonns Thomas and Samuel shall possesse and enjoy the said Pequod lands, and division-lot of marsh to themselves and to their heirs forever, to be equally divided betwixt them.

"ffurthermore, I give and bequeath to my sonn Thomas French my dwelling house and homested with all the appurtenances and priviledges thereof and belonging thereto, and also my Lot lying in Labour-in-vain fields containing twelve acres more or less; with all the rest of my cattell, stocke of all sorts and movable goods (not disposed of by this my Will and testament:) and to my son Samuel I give and bequeath two acres of upland joyning to Joseph Quilter's and two acres of meadow-ground at Reedy marsh; to be possessed by them respectiuely after my decease: Provided always and my Will is, that my son Thomas French doe give full and free libertie to Mary my wife his mother to abide and dwell in the said house and to make use of any room or rooms thereof for her convenient accommodation therein; as likewise to make use of all or any such moveables as I doe now leave in the hands of my son Thomas (not disposed of:) as may be necessary and convenient for her use and occasions from time to time; and all these during the term of her natural life; and that after her decease my son Thomas shall deliver to my three children John, Sam[ll]. and Mary three of the biggest pewter dishes which shall then be left and remain, that is to say, to each of them, one. Provided also, and my will is, that my two sons Thomas and Samuel doe carefully provide for their mothers comfortable maintenance and livelyhood and what is requisit thereto during her natural life; each of them allowing thereto proportionally to that part of my Estate which shall be by them received by vertue of this my testam[t]. And if through any neglect or failure, this way of maintenance should not be to their mother's satisfaction and content, my Will is, y[t] those my two sonns Thomas and Samuel shall allow to their mother ten pounds yeerly: nine pounds thereof to be paid by Thomas and twenty shillings by Samuel, in such pay as shall be suitable and necessary for her comfortable maintenance and livelyhood: And further, if it shall please God to exercise her with much prevailing weakness or continuing sickness that the aforesaid ten pounds should not suffice to defray the charges of her expences; my Will is, that (over and aboue y[e] ten pounds, and according to the like rate of proportion) those my two sons Thomas and Samuel shall supply her with necessaries suitable as her condition may require, y[t] she be not exposed to suffering for want of what ought and might be procured for her. Also my Will is, that my Lot in Labour-in-vain fields, and the two acres of meadow at Reedy Marsh shall stand bound respectively to my said wife during her natural life at securitie for the true pformance of this my Will as respecting her maintenance by my two Sonns; and after her decease, the said lands (except what shall bee alienated (if any so be) by means of the securitie aforesaid) to remain to each of those my Sonns, and to their heirs for ever as is before mentioned and declared. And lastly, I doe name, appoint, and constitute my son Thomas French to be the sole Executo[r]. of this my last will & testament."

John French, a tailor by trade, moved from Ipswich to Topsfield about the year 1664. Some ten years later he built the house which forms the nucleus of the French-Andrews house, so called, still standing near the Newburyport turnpike in Topsfield and well known to antiquaries. He was admitted a commoner of Topsfield in 1675/6 and took the oath of allegiance and fidelity in 1678. He was corporal and clerk of the local military company, served the county on grand and trial juries and the town in various minor offices. Phebe (Keyes) French committed suicide by drowning in May, 1701, and in December of that year John French deeded his home to his son John in return for the usual consideration of care in his old age.† He d. about the year 1706, and his children divided his estate by agreement in August, 1707, his son John being the administrator.

CURTIS

1. Zacheus Curtis embarked on the "James" at Southampton, England, on April 5, 1635, his occupation being given on the Customs House record as labourer and his residence as Downton. According to a later estimate of his age he was born about 1619 and was therefore approximately sixteen years old at the time of his emigration. Inasmuch as a large number of his fellow passengers were from Wiltshire, his home was doubtless in that Wiltshire parish of Downton which is a few miles southeast of Salisbury, but an examination of the parish register, while revealing several contemporary Curtis families, fails to identify him. Possibly he was born and baptized in one of the surrounding villages.

Curtis probably settled in Salem, but we have no record of him until 1643 when the Salem constable presented him and ten others for pasturing cattle in the north corn fields.* The following year he was fined twenty shillings "for rash and ill-advised coming in to have sworne falcelie."† He was presented for smoking tobacco in the street in 1647, but the charge was not proved.‡ About this time he married Joanna ———, who appears as a witness in a defamation suit in 1650.§

Some time before 1658 Curtis and his family settled in Reading on land rented of John Gould, and in that year the lease had six more years to run. On the recommendation of Mr. Edmund Batter of Salem, Mr. William Bartholomew of Gloucester made an agreement with Curtis by which he was to leave Reading and go to Gloucester to manage Bartholomew's farm and draw logs to his mill. Curtis went to Gloucester in August of 1658 to come to terms with Bartholomew and to see the house provided for him, and on returning to Reading he wound up his affairs and transported his family and goods to Salem, from where, after waiting a fortnight for a boat, he set sail for Gloucester. Upon his arrival, Bartholomew threw over the agreement and refused to employ him. Several witnesses testified for Bartholomew, in the suit which Curtis had brought against him, that Curtis had failed to come on two weeks trial as he had agreed, that he was too weak and sickly to undertake the position, and that his wife was a "froward woman." A letter from Bartholomew to Curtis and the testimony of Mrs. Batter, however, seemed to prove that everything was in agreement up to the final arrival of Curtis and his family in Gloucester, and the jury returned a verdict for Curtis.*

The Curtises did not immediately leave Gloucester as the birth of their daughter Mary was recorded there in 1659, but soon afterward they are found at Rowley Village (Boxford), which was then closely identified with Topsfield, and where in 1663 Zacheus Gould, the father of his former landlord at Reading, deeded to Zacheus Curtis a parcel of land lying on the south side of Fish brook. He also gave Curtis liberty to pasture cattle on Gould's common land and a right of way to Topsfield. In 1664/5 Curtis sold to John Robinson two parcels of land on the river called Brooksby in Salem which had formerly been granted him by that town.† He then called himself a planter.

In 1672 Curtis and his sons Zacheus and Zachariah, with two other Topsfield men, were fined for smoking in the meeting-house. At the same court he complained of the bad condition of the highway to Salem at Beaver Dam and gave his evidence thereto.‡

Thadeus Brand of Lynn, whose wife Sarah died December 13, 1675, gave his baby girl, Mary, who was born on the November 27 before his wife's death, to the Curtises on November 16, 1676. Brand was killed by the Indians at Black Point in the following June. It would seem probable that some blood relationship existed between the families.

Curtis was surety for Ensign John Gould in 1675, but was not accepted. He seems to have been closely associated with the Goulds, appearing as witness for them in court cases, etc.§

Zacheus Curtis died in 1682. His verbal will was testified to by John Ramsdel and Abigail Curtis, who stated that they were present when Curtis lay upon his deathbed, and that he declared that his will was that all his grandsons should have twenty shillings each and his granddaughters ten shillings each, and that his son Ephraim should have the farm after his mother's death. The statement was sworn to on November 29, 1682, and John Curtis, Ephraim Curtis and Jonathan Looke, husband of Mary Curtis, assented to it. Abraham Redington, Sr., and John Peabody took his inventory, which amounted to £185: 16: 8. The estate was much reduced by debts which totalled £134: 6: 8.¶

2. i. ZACHEUS, b. about 1646.
3. ii. JOHN, b. about 1649.
iii. ZACHARIAH, b. about 1651; aged twenty-two in 1673; credited for service in King Philip's War, Oct. 24, 1676; his name appears on the minister's rate list in Ipswich in 1675; having been fined for having improper relations with Widow Elizabeth Bridges in the September court, 1680, he sued Joseph Peabody for slander in circulating the rumor, in the November session; probably d. s. p.
iv. SARAH; m. James[2] Scales, son of William Scales of Rowley, Nov. 7, 1677; he d. before March 31, 1685/6, when the inventory of his estate was taken by Samuel and Andrew Stickney, and his heirs stated to be his widow, Sarah, and his children, James, aged seven, Sarah, aged five, William, aged three, and Matthew, aged one.

Children: —

1. James Scales, b. March 30, 1679; m. his cousin Sarah[3] Curtis, daughter of Zacheus and Mary (Blake) Curtis, March 10, 1703/4.
2. Sarah Scales, b. Jan. 18, 1680/1; m. George Burroughs, son of Rev. George Burroughs, the witchcraft martyr, 27: 12: 1713.
3. William Scales, b. March 1, 1682/3; m. Susanna Ayres; removed to Falmouth, Maine, and was the first representative of that town in the General Court; killed by Indians at North Yarmouth April 13, 1724.
4. Matthew Scales, bapt. March 29, 1685; pub. to Elizabeth Jewett Oct. 31, 1707; killed with his brother William in 1724.

v. MARY, b. May 12, 1659, in Gloucester; m. John Heard; in June, 1677, her father petitioned the court to grant her a separation from her husband on the ground of his impotence, but the petition was refused and the couple were ordered to live together as man and wife; in July, 1678, however, Mary Heard was granted a divorce on her previous grounds, coupled with desertion, the decree to take effect if Heard did not return within a month;* she was married, under her maiden name, to Jonathan[2] Looke at Topsfield on Nov. 19, 1678. (See Looke.)
4. vi. EPHRAIM.
vii. ABIGAIL; testified to her father's verbal will in 1682; presented for fornication at the Quarterly Court in Sept., 1689.

2. ZACHEUS[2] CURTIS (Zacheus[1]) was born about 1647, as his age was given as twenty-two in 1669. When he was sixteen he was sentenced by the county court to stand at the court-room door for an hour with a paper on his hat on which was written in large letters "For setting up a faulse purpose of marriage at Topsfield." James Waters and Elizabeth Redington were the young couple thus involved, and Zacheus's spiritual descendants are still scrawling amorous announcements on New England fences. A year later he was accused of a more serious offence by a daughter of George Hadley of Topsfield, and sentenced to be whipped.

He married Mary Blake, daughter of George and Dorothy Blake of Gloucester, December 4, 1673. In 1675 he served under Capt. Gardiner in King Philip's war and was in action in the Narragansett fort fight. He lived in Rowley Village (Boxford) where Capt. John Gould deeded him forty-two acres in 1676,* and ten acres in 1686.† With his brother Ephraim he also owned a tract of one hundred and twenty acres in Boxford which was divided by their heirs in 1721.‡ He was selectman of Boxford in 1693, 1705 and 1708.

After the death of his wife Mary, Zacheus Curtis married Abigail Stiles, daughter of Robert Stiles of Boxford.

Zacheus Curtis died between April 18 and July 17, 1712, the dates of the codicil to his will and the probate of the document. In the will his wife Abigail and his sons James, Zachariah and Joseph, and his daughters Sarah Scales, Mercy, Prudence, Ruth and Deborah Curtis are mentioned, and the sons Zachariah and Joseph are named as executors. In the codicil several specific legacies are created, as "my best coate, my pistoles & Rasor" to his son James, "my Carbine" to Zachariah, "my Muskett" to Joseph, "Mr. Mathers book of eight sermons," "the great chaire," etc. The land devised to his sons was entailed. Administration cum testamento annexo was granted to the son James on July 9, 1716, and he returned an inventory of real property valued at £232. He petitioned the court for permission to sell sufficient land to discharge the debts and legacies, amounting to £64 : 1 : 8, "the estate being all Reale & entailed by the deceased in his last will," but the request was denied on November 13, 1716, by the Supreme Judicial Court. The administrator accounted in 1723, and in 1731 the dower of widow Abigail was set off.§

Widow Abigail Curtis married Jonathan Hyde (Hides) of Canterbury, Conn., January 28, 1723/4, and was his widow in 1731, when she sold her dower rights in Zacheus Curtis's estate to his three grandchildren, Love Beale of Needham, and Zacha-

4. EPHRAIM[2] CURTIS (Zacheus[1]) received the paternal farm by his father's will, and was appointed administrator of the estate. He married Elizabeth Kilborne, daughter of George and Elizabeth Kilborne of Rowley, September 6, 1693. He was one of the selectmen of Boxford in 1694.

His estate was administered by his nephew, John Curtis of Topsfield, who received his appointment on April 30, 1716, and returned an inventory of £522: 14: 6 on May 14 of that year. The bulk of this property consisted of the homestead, barns, orchard and two hundred and twenty acres of land. The administrator disposed of portions of the real estate in 1718 and 1719.* The remainder was divided in 1719 among Ephraim's children, two-sixths being apportioned to his nephew, James Curtis, who had purchased the rights of the eldest son, Ephraim, and one-sixth each to Ebenezer, Isaac and Jacob Curtis and William Iles, husband of Elizabeth Curtis.† As no arrangement was made for her dower, it seems that Elizabeth (Kilborne) Curtis died before 1719.

8. Samuel[3] Curtis (John[2], Zacheus[1]) was born in Topsfield May 31, 1698. He married Hannah Dodge of Beverly June 15, 1720. They lived in Topsfield until 1748 when they moved to the town of Oxford, Worcester County, Hannah Curtis being dismissed from the Topsfield church to that of Oxford on March 12 of that year.

Curtis bought a tract of two hundred acres in his new location and from 1749 to 1751 he kept an inn there. In 1750 he deeded fifty acres to his son Samuel, and in 1752 he gave the remaining one hundred and fifty acres to his son Noah, reserving one-half of his house. The historian of Oxford says that the Curtis family left the town at about the time of the Revolution.

Flora, the Curtis's negro "servant-child," was baptized in Topsfield in 1741.

Children, born in Topsfield: —

i. Hannah, b. July 14, 1722.
ii. Rebecca, b. March 9, 1723/4; d. Dec. 3, 1726.
iii. Mary, b. June 8, 1726; m. Amos Singletary Sept. 6, 1742. He was a son of John and Mary Singletary of Sutton, and a step-son of Mary Curtis's aunt, Mary (Curtis) (Kenney) Singletary. Squire Singletary, as he was called, was a man of wealth and more than local prominence, serving in the General Court in 1775, 1777, 1778, 1780, 1781 and 1787, and as a delegate to the Provincial Congress in 1775. Mary (Curtis) Singletary d. June 28, 1799, and the death of Hon. Amos Singletary is recorded Oct. 30, 1806, when his age was eighty-five years.

Children, born in Sutton: —

1. Greely Singletary (daughter), b. Aug. 15, 1743.

VI

LOOKE, OF LYNN AND BOXFORD

LOOKE

1. Thomas Looke, born about 1627, was probably one of the original employees of John Bex & Company sent from England to establish the Iron Works at Hammersmith in Lynn in 1643, and for all of his recorded life he was connected with mining operations, first at Lynn and later at Rowley Village. His first appearance on the records is in 1646 when a son was born to him and his wife Mary. Because the name Luke is not unknown in Scotland and because many later workmen at the Iron Works were Scotch prisoners sent to America after the battle of Dunbar in 1651, a Scotch origin has been assigned to Thomas Looke, but no certainty can be claimed for it as the name was also found in seventeenth-century England and no clues to his British home have survived.

Looke's principal occupation at the Iron Works was that of collier; that is, he prepared the charcoal used in smelting the ore. Odd jobs seem also to have been in his province. The records of the Quarterly Courts contain the following items which concern him:—

> "To ye acco. of Thomas Loocke one dayes Worke himselfe and his mann about ye furnace Beeme." Sept., 1653.
> "To ye acco. of Thomas Loocke Coalleing of 156 Loades with Tho. Keltoun at 5s. 6d. per Load . . . £42, 18s." Sept., 1653.
>
> The estates of Thomas Looke and Joseph James of Lynn were distrained by the constable for their striking Matthew Farnsworth. June, 1655.
>
> Thomas Looke (his mark) testified in an Iron Works suit. March, 1656.
>
> Thomas Looke, collier, aged about thirty-one, testified, in June, 1658, that he had a Scot (doubtless one of the unfortunate prisoners) in his employ for three years, agreeing to give the man food and clothing and to pay the company five pounds a year for his service.
>
> Thomas Looke acknowledged judgment to Mr. John Gedney, Nov., 1659.
>
> Joseph Armitage v. Thomas Looke, Debt. for wheeling in 900 cords of wood. Forfeited. Nov., 1660.
> John Hathorne v. Thomas Look. Debt, for withholding five pounds on a cow. Nov., 1660.

Joseph Armitage v. Thomas Looke. Debt. The defendant's dwelling-house and his property in the hands of Mr. Purchase attached. 1661.

Edmond Batter v. Thomas Looke, Debt. Nov., 1670.

Looke was still making coal at Lynn in 1673, but in the following year he deserted the Hammersmith Iron Works and moved to Rowley Village, where another mine was having a somewhat precarious career, under the management of Henry Leonard and the ownership of an Ipswich and Topsfield group of associates. At about this time the Rowley Village plant was burned and in a resulting suit Thomas Baker testified that Goodman Looke was faithful and trusty, that he said that he had two weeks work engaged in mowing and that then he would go to the works, and that Looke was not present when the works burned. This case was tried in July, 1675. The venture was abandoned, but Looke and his family remained in the village.

The dates of death of Thomas Looke and his wife Mary are not recorded.

Children, born in Lynn: —

2. i. THOMAS, b. 4th mo. 1646.

2. THOMAS[2] LOOKE (Thomas[1]) was born in Lynn in 1646. Through his father's partnership with Richard Swain, one of the original proprietors of Nantucket, the younger Looke settled on that island about the year 1670, and there he married Elizabeth Bunker, daughter of George and Jane (Godfrey) Bunker of Topsfield and stepdaughter of Richard Swain, with whom he had gone to Nantucket. They remained on Nantucket until 1685 or 1686, when they moved to Tisbury on Martha's Vineyard where Look purchased a farm and a water power and mill privilege on the stream called the Tiasquam. He was a miller for the remainder of his life and his descendants carried on his trade on the same spot for the greater part of a century. He was a selectman in 1681 and 1695, deputy-sheriff of the county in 1699, and filled the usual minor offices from time to time. His will, dated December 4, 1725, was probated in January, 1726.

Children, born on Nantucket:—

i. EXPERIENCE, b. Nov. 22, 1672; m. her first cousin, Stephen Coffin, son of Stephen and Mary (Bunker) Coffin, Sept. 21, 1693.
ii. ELIZABETH, b. Nov. 28, 1675; m. James Cottle, son of Edward and Judith Cottle of Salisbury and Nantucket; living in 1742.

10. Mary, b. Nov. 26, 1721.
11. Job, b. Jan. 26, 1725.

3. JONATHAN[2] LOOK (Thomas[1]) was born in Lynn in 1651. He married (1) Mary Curtis, daughter of Zacheus[1] and Joanna Curtis of Topsfield, November 19, 1678. (See Curtis.) Her previous marriage to John Heard had been annulled in 1677 and she had resumed her maiden name. Mary (Curtis) Looke died before 1693, when he had married (2) Elizabeth Wallingford, daughter of Nicholas Wallingford of Bradford.*

Jonathan Look was a soldier in the campaign against King Philip in 1676, when he was still living in Lynn. He moved to Rowley Village with his father, and he and his man were taxed in Topsfield in 1687 and 1688. He was of Rowley in 1734 when he made his will on August 21. He leaves legacies to his sons John and Israel, his daughters Deliverance Wooster, wife of Ebenezer Wooster, Sarah Emerson, wife of James Emerson, and Elizabeth Looke, his daughter-in-law Martha Looke and his granddaughter Martha Looke. This document was probated on April 16, 1736.†
